A Cast of Stars
(Administration,
Faculty,
Student Body)

A Purposeful
Plot (Classroom, Laboratory, Scenes)

A Stellar Sequence of Action
(Activities, Sports)

We are old. For forty-four years Second Ward High School has served the Charlotte community as a combination junior and senior high school.

We are young. When school doors opened for the 1966-67 school year, Second Ward opened its doors as a brand new senior high school.

With cameras in hand, we have recorded many aspects of the experiences which accompanied our new status. Share with us the "Celluloid Adventures" of a New Senior High School.

STARRING

Mrs. Pecola Maxwell

Our 1966-67 verbal Oscar is hereby presented to Mrs. Pecola Maxwell.

The factors which dictate this choice are both numerous and imposing. They include a motivating example of high scholarship, effectively adapted to and diffused throughout her classroom contacts with her students. They include a breadth and sincerity of interests which are felt in many areas of the total school program. They include painstaking diligence and a genuine interest in the problems and promise of each student. They include a warm and stimulating personality in which humor, friendliness, and firmness of purpose are happily blended.

For five and a half years she has exhibited these qualities and we sincerely wish for her and our alma mater a continuation of this fortunate association.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

THE PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

We began the 1966-67 school year as a full-fledged senior high school (grades 10-12), facing many challenges. As the year progresses we are fortunately able to conclude that, for the most part, these challenges are being met.

This year has brought changes in our student body with many new faces and I salute these students for accepting their responsibilities as Second Ward Tigers. I likewise salute the returning students for the friendliness and hospitality extended to the new students.

Looking toward the future, I see the prospects of many good things for Second Ward. Among these are a new plant, new programs, increased student body, new activities--and we may even have a new name.

I extend congratulations to the staff of the 1967 TIGER for the diligent work which was done to produce this yearbook. Specifically, I want to commend Miss Queen Green for her unrelenting dedication to the job as adviser to the staff. She worked long and hard to make this book a source of pride and joy to all of us who love Second Ward.

As you examine these pages, I am sure you will conclude that Second Ward is a great school with a dedicated faculty and a wonderful student body.

Dear Second Ward, our Alma Mater,
We pledge ourselves to thee.
We'll love you e'er as onward we go
If thou our guide will be.
The thoughts that in our minds you leave
Shall ever treasured be.
Your noble deeds shall in us live,
'Til time shall end our praise.

The Cooperative Office Occupations Class was added to our curriculum this year. Machines used: Selectric typewriters, rotary calculators, listing and non-listing machines, IBM key-punch.

Subject areas include: clerical office work, Business English, shorthand and civil service examinations.

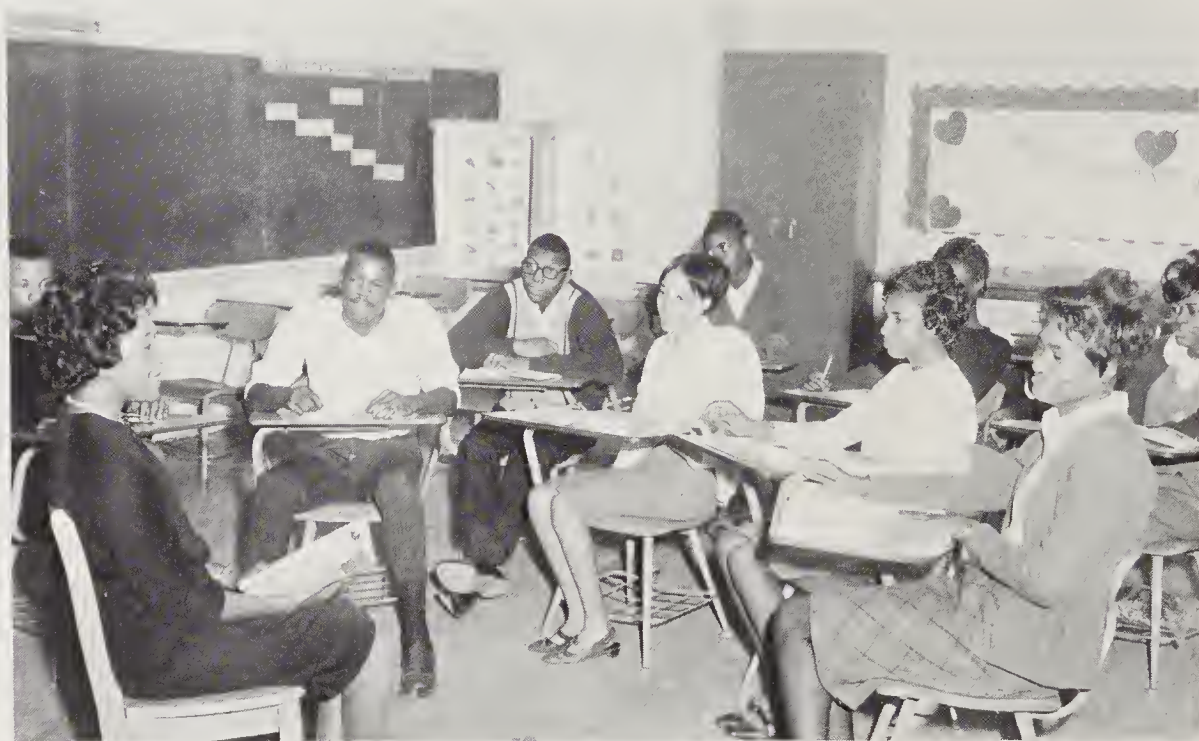

They were discussing the Declaration of Independence when something occurred in the rear of the room. Perhaps it was a voice from the past. It could happen in a United States History class, you know.

If you need advice concerning the technicalities of the stock market, or if you're scheduled for a job interview, ask any member of the Distributive Education II class.

This is a reading group discussing with their teacher a lesson on "Man Reaching the Moon." They are engaged in discussing the challenges which living on the moon will present.

The separation of volatile and non-volatile materials by distillation—Sounds like chemistry.

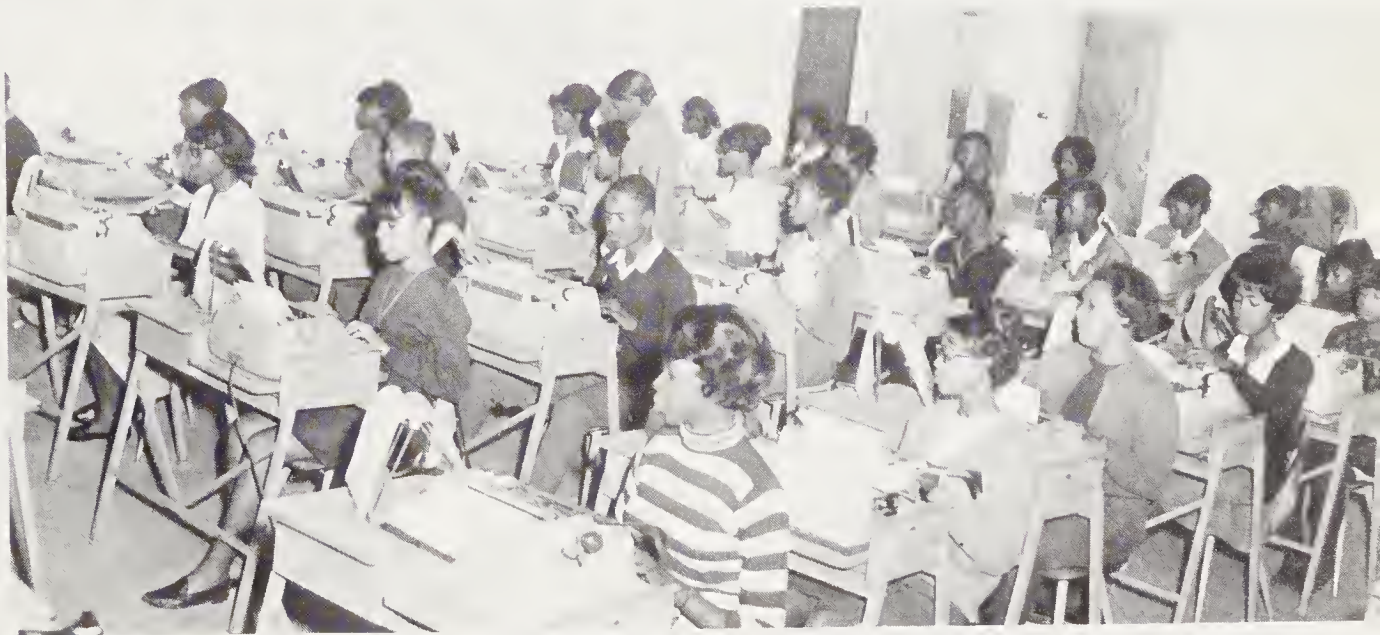

We happened in on a Family Living class project - Adventures with Parents. The objective was to help youth to develop by appreciating contributions of parents to the home, school and community.

Typing I lesson of the day—typing a business letter after learning the parts. They are seemingly too busy to watch the photographer.

STUDENT COUNCIL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The Miss Second Ward Pageant scheduled for April of '67 is being sponsored by the committee. This event will determine who will reign as the 1967-68 Miss Second Ward.

STUDENT COUNCIL SOCIAL COMMITTEE

It cannot be said that the social side is neglected. Excerpts from the 1966-67 calendar included:

Homecoming Ball: Harvest Ball; Ice Skating Party; Theater party; Popular Music Concert; Bunny Hop. Supervision of the Student Lounge is one of the committee's responsibilities.

STUDENT COUNCIL HEALTH AND SAFETY COMMITTEE

Too late to wish that you had used that radiator brush.

It's apparent that a cleanliness rating is being duly recorded.

We call them "Dust detectors", but they're one of the OFFICIAL inspection teams. We were informed that they found a lonely wisp of dust above this bulletin board.

The quarterly clean-up campaigns foster a keen but friendly spirit of rivalry between homerooms. This, plus the well-scrubbed look that results, constitutes a valued school experience. Committee members also assume special duties on the grounds and in the buildings during lunch periods.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Some objectives of the National Honor Society—

1. To foster and encourage lofty standards of scholarship.
2. To instill in its members high qualities of character, leadership, and personality.
3. To serve as an incentive to all senior high school students that scholarship is most important today in our ever-changing world.

The four qualifications for membership are:

Leadership
Service
Character
Scholarship

The future with its vast opportunity stretches before us.

The great emblem that we love with its strong arms of faith, hope, love and service upon the white background of peace, shall lift the people, not only of America, but of all the world, into a higher sense of our common human brotherhood, and our divine obligations.

This is the vision of the Red Cross

LIBRARY CLUB

Browsing, reading, learning; these are the recreational and intellectual pursuits which help members of the Library Club to develop and broaden their potentialities.

"If one can do a work of art that gives him real pleasure, he has discovered some semblance of what art is. If another person sees what he has created and professes to understand it, the artist has added to his personal enjoyment the ability to communicate. If many people see and understand, the scope of what an artist can do is unlimited."

(Viktor Lowenfeld)

The current Events Quiz Club promotes, in a most exciting way, better understanding of the problems that confront the world, our nation, and our communities.

Starvis, Sloane and Starvis, Inc. is coordinator for the current events program, the Raleigh News and Observer is the sponsor, and Mrs. R. R. Bradley is moderator and director.

The club meets weekly and conducts team matches from a weekly 100-question script. The Club's plans include class matches, inter-school competition, and state championship award.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

On December 15 members of the club demonstrated thoughtfulness of others as well as home-making skills. Their visit to Dwiggins Rest Home was a busy one. They helped to bathe the patients, attacked cleaning chores energetically, artfully arranged Christmas decorations, and brought Christmas cheer to the shut-ins.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUBS OF AMERICA

The club can boast of a busy and productive year. The important September activity was a trip to the Mecklenburg County Fair where booths prepared by other DE clubs were of special interest. During December the club organized an economic survey designed to find out the feelings of Second Ward students about certain economic issues.

COMMUNITY TIES

Our School Committeemen have consistently lived up to the responsibilities of their position. They love Second Ward and we love them!

A third important key – Mrs. Carrie Brailey, PTA treasurer.

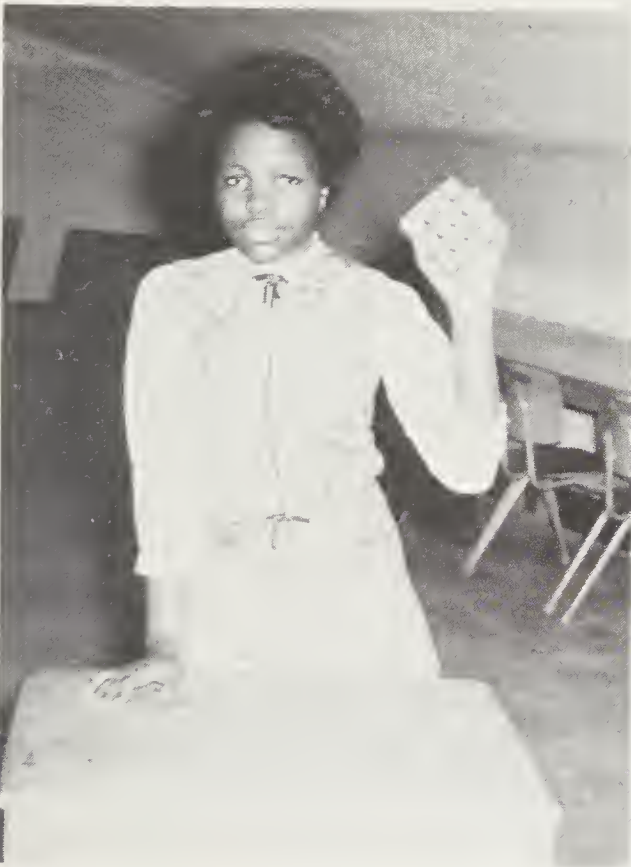

Two important keys to the success of our PTA – Mrs. Mattie Caldwell, President; Mrs. Sarah Stevenson, Program Committee Chairman.

The PTA sponsored Valentine Pageant and Dance was a combination of beautiful pageantry, fund raising, and FUN.

JUNIOR ACHIEVER EXHIBITS

The wooden TIC-TAC-TOE board, displayed by Avarisse Peterson is a handy place to hang pot holders.

Eugene Reid says "Make these two products a 'must' on your shopping list. The all-purpose FOOT STOOL makes hard-to-reach areas accessible." Use the IDIOT STICK for . . . Products of Stool-O-Bank-O.

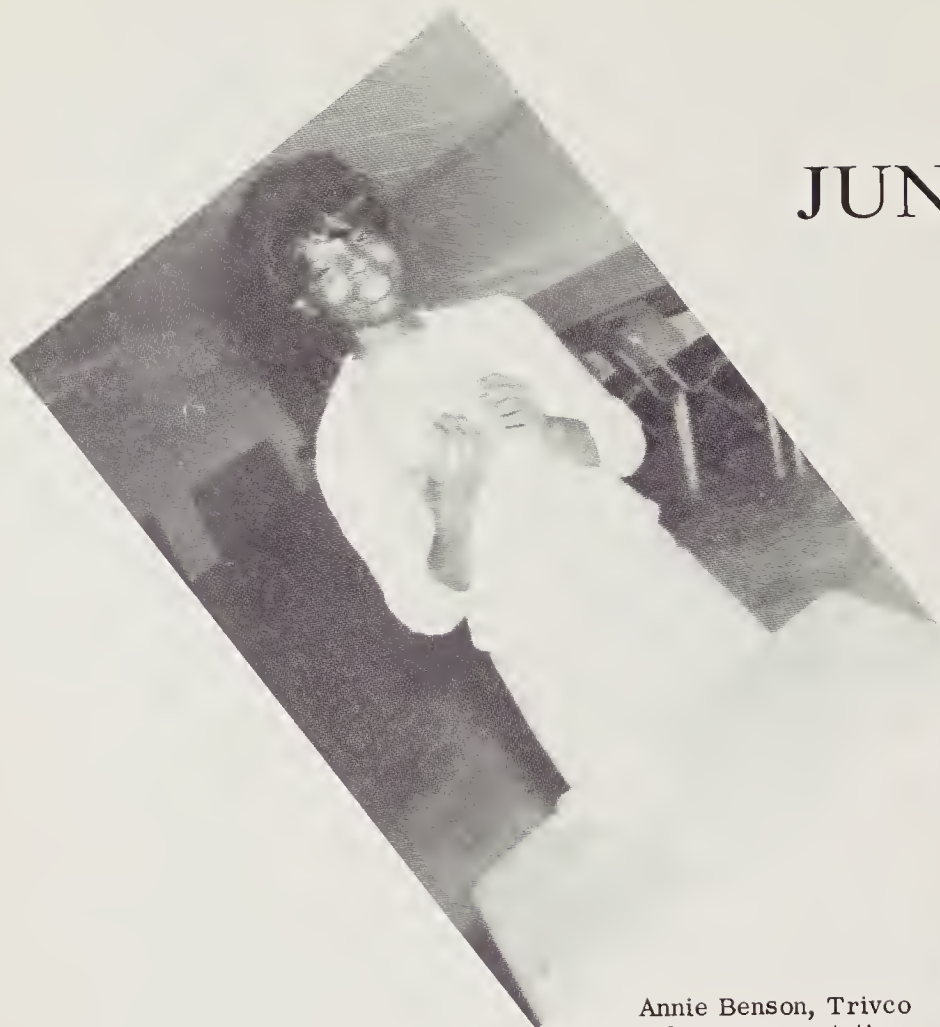

A Sealco's CHIP OFF THE OLE BLOCK can be used as a paperweight or as a block to hold pictures. Doris Horton, exhibitor.

Gloria McClendon demonstrates MOON SHOT a tough and challenging game. 0-500-750-1000-try to get the ball in the 1000 socket. A Lunaco Product.
